Winterised options

A redesign of the existing Igloo event structure with enhanced engineering and new materials has meant that it can withstand winds of up to 31 m/s or 77 miles per hour.

The change in aluminium from 6005 T6 to 6082 T6, a much stronger material, and the addition of new bolted purlins when required and cross bracing means the winterised version can achieve the required wind speed.

Amazing Birthday Party

Case study

The Fews solution

A big birthday requires a big structure. The Igloo was built for a joint birthday onto the customers personal property.

The client wanted to create a truly unique party that would be eye catching and drawdropping enough to stun guests. With the Igloo's impressive height, the party was transformed into an unbelievable world class event.

The monstrous weight loading capabilities equipped the party specialists with the ability to bring their event to life with amazing hanging decorations and plenty of AV equipment rigged from the roof.

The Igloo marquee we built in the clients' garden was a 30 metre x 40 metre structure with clear PVC above the entrance and blackout PVC beyond. The whole structure was built on a cassette floor, raised 2 metres on scaffolding.
